

Teaching & Learning Center Monthly Utilization Report – March 2017

1. LMS Stability and Utilization

CSC Online-Sakai stability is determined by calculating the monthly uptime, excluding planned maintenance. System utilization is gauged by a 200 day moving average of logins and unique users, and the number of course sites published for the currently active term.

Uptime	99.9%
Avg. Logins/Day	3152
Avg. Users/Day	1586
Course Sites – Spring 2017	893

2. LMS Support Utilization

LMS support utilization is determined by tickets opened with our LMS hosting provider (Longsight), tickets logged by the TLC team in the LMS category, and tickets reported by our 24/7 help desk (Pearson).

Tickets Opened with Host	9
TLC Tickets	50
24/7 Help Desk Tickets	90

3. Other Support Utilization

Other support utilization accounts for assistance requested in areas, such as mediated classrooms, instructional design, and other instruction- and/or technology-related consultations.

Mediated Classrooms & Technology-Related	54
Instructional Design	4
Total Consultations	58

4. Web-Conferencing/Lecture-Capture Utilization

To determine the utilization of Vidyo, the TLC's web-conferencing and lecture-capture solution, the hours of active use and the number of active users are recorded.

Vidyo Hours of Use	389.32
Vidyo Active Users	26

5. Mediated Classroom Utilization

Computer-mediated classroom use is determined by projector use and classroom scheduling each semester. See TLC semester reports for mediated classroom information.

Classroom Projector Use	N/A
Mediated Classroom Use	N/A

6. Academic Web Utilization

The academic web constitutes a number of sites developed by faculty and staff in academic affairs and supported by TLC staff; to gauge utilization, we track the number of faculty/staff managed sites along with total visitors for all Academic Web sites (excluding the TLC Blog).

Number of Sites	32
Total Visitors	315

7. TLC Blog & Website Utilization

The TLC breaks out reporting on the TLC Blog and publishes figures provided by IT on the TLC Website. We track the number of page views and visitors.
